

Health Experiences Research 1.0 Hybrid Training

MAY 18-20, 2026

Hosted by the University of New Mexico

Launched in 2014, HERN is the United States chapter of DIPEX International. It is a partnership among researchers at the University of New Mexico, Oregon Health and Science University, the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Johns Hopkins University, Yale University, the University of Utah School of Medicine, the Veterans Administration, and Mount Sinai School of Medicine.

Are you interested in bringing patient stories into your research and using rigorous, team-based, qualitative methods?
Join us for our annual HERN training!

What:

Interactive sessions on methodology, project development and implementation; opportunities to present your research; and networking time with peers and senior researchers.

Where:

Attend in-person at the University of New Mexico or attend virtually via Zoom.

Cost:

In-Person: Faculty/Staff $550; Students/Residents $275

Virtual: Faculty/Staff: $400; Students/Residents: $200

UNM faculty & staff may be eligible for tuition remission.

Register: <https://tinyurl.com/2eczwnh8>

Cancellation:

You may cancel your registration by April 30, 2026 for a full refund, minus processing fee. Nonrefundable after April 30, 2026

Contact us at HERNTraining@salud.unm.edu for more information.